Hello Parents of Oliver Middle School,

I am excited to announce that I will be teaching French horn at Oliver Middle School this upcoming school year. I will be happy to teach any student looking to take private horn lessons. I am here to make sure your student can progress on their instrument in order to enrich their music education.

Prior to teaching at Oliver Middle School, I have been teaching privately for the past six years, and have been primarily teaching beginner-intermediate level students. I graduated this spring with my master's in music performance from Cincinnati's College-Conservatory of Music. Before that, I graduated from Belmont University with a bachelor's degree in music performance as well. I am a brass specialist, having played over twelve years of trumpet and five years of French horn. I have been playing professionally on each instrument in the Nashville and Cincinnati areas during my studies.

Private instruction is a great way to help your student advance during their time in band. I hope you consider either continuing or starting up your student with private lessons.

Thank you,

Emery Hicks
